

Anaplan for Sales & Microsoft Dynamics 365

Aligning sales execution with the revenue strategy

CRM solutions are an indispensable tool for go-to-market efforts, helping sales teams execute and accelerate revenue-generating activities. But strategy is what steers the ship. Sales and operations leaders must work together to define the organization's go-to-market strategy, the all-encompassing revenue plans for achieving corporate objectives.

Successfully building and executing these plans is a challenge in ever-changing markets, requiring a holistic view of sales performance drivers and insights from across the business. For businesses to consistently drive growth while navigating change, they need a way to capitalize on the value of their CRM while expanding upon its capabilities to build their go-to-market strategy more effectively.

Expand the value of Dynamics 365 with Anaplan

As your sales teams adopt Dynamics 365 for Sales, it becomes a key data source for building and adapting your revenue strategy, providing crucial input for better decision-making. Anaplan's platform can combine this CRM data with other source system data to provide modeling capabilities and intelligence-based insights that help leaders craft a revenue plan aligned with corporate goals.

Built to manage the entire go-to-market strategy, Anaplan for Sales solutions span account segmentation, territories, quotas, sales capacity, incentive programs, KPI tracking, multi-dimensional forecasts, scenario modeling, and more. The platform provides relevant visibility to all stakeholders while allowing leaders to keep revenue teams focused and adapt where necessary. Anaplan, combined with Microsoft Dynamics 365, helps businesses build a more connected, dynamic revenue strategy that optimizes performance and drives growth.
